

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A limited edition stamp and method for printing limited edition stamps from a plurality of different printers and locations. The limited edition stamps each having a unique ID not visible under normal viewing conditions. The 5 unique ID number is allocated to different printers by a single computer that is communication with all of the printers.